City Sets Hearing on New Budget July 8

The Canyon City Commission tentatively adopted a $190,703 budget for 1957-58 at a meeting Monday night and set July 8 as the date for a public hearing on the proposed budget.

The new budget shows an increase of $27,374 over last year's budget, half of which is accounted for in planned expenditures for street repairs and maintenance.

Also included in the increased budget is another trash truck to keep up with the city's growth, replacement of an old pickup truck in the water department and replacement of a police car. Another major addition planned is the installation of tile in the drying beds at the sewage disposal plant to allow faster drying of sludge.

On top of the expected expenditures of the various departments of the city is the payment of $38,297 in principal and interest for tax bonds.

The budget estimates receipts of $146,360 from the water and sewer departments, franchise taxes and other revenue sources. The remainder of the money needed will be made up from ad valorem taxes.

The commission did not set a tax rate for next year, but the budget estimates a valuation of $5,851,780. The commission indicated that the tax rate would not be set until after the public hearing on the budget.

In preparing the new budget, City Secretary Andrew Boggs split the park department and set up a new account for the swimming pool, in order to show the costs of the two services more accurately. The planned expenditures for the two departments is $1753 less than was actually spent last year.

The new budget also shows an increase of $5342 over last year's expenses for the fire department. The increase was explained because the department will need considerable hose replacement and the fire trucks will need more repairs this year.

Copies of the proposed budget will be available to taxpayers who attend the budget hearing.

Latin Historian Joins College Staff

An instructor in history, whose special field will be in the Latin American area, has been appointed for the 1957-58 session at West Texas State College.

President James P. Cornette has announced that John A. Kahler, who is studying toward his doctorate at the University of Chicago, will join the faculty here at the opening of the fall semester.

Kahler, 27, earned his A.B. degree in history at Elmhurst College and his A.M. degree at the University of Chicago. He expects to complete all college requirements for his Ph.D. at the end of the current summer term at Chicago.

Kahler, who is single, is writing his dissertation and doing his major work under Dr. J. Fred Rippy, noted Latin American history authority.

Spraying To Start When Fogger Ready

Canyon will be sprayed to kill mosquitoes and other insects as soon as repairs are completed on the city's fogging machine, City Secretary Andrew Boggs has announced.

An overhaul of the machine was started some time ago, but a mixup over new parts has held up completion of the work. Boggs said the parts have been ordered for about six weeks.

An order for parts was placed earlier than that, but the shipment came in incomplete, he said. The missing parts were ordered, but the company shipped the wrong ones. They were returned to the company and a correction was made. The final order has not yet been filled, however, Boggs said.

About three weeks ago, the city attempted to control breeding of mosquitos by having the creek bottoms north and south of Canyon sprayed by airplane.

In the meantime, the chamber of commerce has urged that citizens help the situation by chopping weeds in alleys and on vacant lots.

Cemetery Group Starts Drive

A concerted drive for money to establish permanent care for Dreamland Cemetery will be started this week by the Dreamland Cemetery Association.

A series of letters will be mailed soon to the known owners and descendants of persons buried in the cemetery explaining the plans of the association and asking for funds. In addition, the price of the cemetery grave spaces will be raised.

If enough money is raised through spaces sales, donations and other activities, the association plans to beautify the cemetery, install a pressure watering system and establish a trust fund to pay for permanent care in the future. The trust fund will be administered by an outside agency and will take care of future needs in much the same manner as privately-owned cemeteries.

The plans for the drive and permanent care fund came from a series of meetings of members of the cemetery association. The meetings began last fall and have been continued regularly.

Plans call for the price of grave spaces to be raised from the present $15 to $50. Sixty per cent of the money will be put into the care fund and 40 per cent will go toward regular maintenance and beautification.

The association will also ask all who own property in the cemetery to put up $50 per grave space owned. That money will also be split 60-40 to pay for future and present work.

At the outset, the association will put all money received from present property owners into an escrow fund. When it appears that enough of the present owners have contributed to insure the success of the venture, the escrow fund will be transferred to the permanent care fund.

In the event that enough money is not raised to insure success, the contributions of owners will be returned.

The Dreamland Cemetery Association, formerly the Randall County Cemetery Association, has been chartered as a non-profit corporation by the Texas Secretary of State.

When enough money has been raised to insure the success of the association's plans, the county commissioners court has agreed to give title to the cemetery to the association.

Dreamland Cemetery has been operated by the county since its founding. At present, the county contributes enough money to the association to pay the salary of a caretaker.

All money presently raised from the sale of grave spaces goes into the county's treasury as is the charge made to families for opening and closing graves. That money is used for the monthly contribution and is subsidized from the general fund.

Included in the plans of the association are landscaping the cemetery, planting grass in the entire areas and adequate maintenance to keep the cemetery beautiful.

The water system planned include three wells with a pressure system. One of the wells has already been drilled. The association plans to install a sprinkler system above ground to water the area.

As soon as enough money has been raised to insure the permanency of the association, a membership meeting will be called to elect new officers and a board of directors, Mrs. L. L. Byars, president, has indicated.

The plans of the Dreamland association have been modeled after other cemetery associations in the area which have taken over county and city cemeteries for permanent care. One of the nearest examples is in Tulia.

A trust fund established for permanent care of a cemetery is invested by the trust officers, and only the income from the investments may be used for the operation of the cemetery. Under state law, the principal sum must remain invested.

The Dreamland association hopes to be able to raise enough money to be sure that Dreamland Cemetery can be beautified and become self-supporting in the future.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Allen and daughters visited Mr. Allen's parents in Houston over the weekend. They also attended a hardware meeting in San Antonio.

Commission To Raise Speed Limit In Canyon To Meet Highway Plans

An ordinance raising the Canyon speed limit to 30 miles an hour from the present 25 was ordered by the city commission at a meeting Friday.

The ordinance will be prepared and submitted to the commission for formal approval at a later meeting.

The decision to raise the speed limit came during a discussion of traffic problems. The commission noted that the state now has the authority to set a minimum speed limit of 30 miles an hour on all highways which run through cities.

The commission decided that a speed limit of 30 on the highway and 25 in the rest of the city would be ridiculous. The new ordinance will retain lower speed limits for schools zones.

In addition the commission decided to ask the highway department to install "Speed Zone Ahead" signs on the approaches to Canyon to warn drivers of their approach to the city.

In other action the commission agreed to send two firemen to the firemen's short course at Texas A&M this summer if two can be found who can make the trip. If one fireman and either the fire marshal or assistant fire marshal will attend the school, the city would be allowed enough credit to lower the fire insurance key rate from 30 cents to 29 cents.

If the key rate could be lowered, it would save fire insurance purchasers about $500 each year. A total of $50,000 was paid in fire insurance premiums in Canyon last year.

The commission estimated that sending two men to the school would cost around $200.

The city commission also ordered strict observance of the ordinance which prohibits keeping of animals within the city limits.

During the meeting Friday, the commission declined a request for the city to pay for electricity used during Little League games this summer. The electricity will cost an estimated $150.

Commissioner Paul Lindsey said he did not believe that tax money should be used for such purposes, especially since the city treasury is low.

Lindsey offered to personally pay for electricity used up to the cost of $150, but Mayor Hosea Foster and Commissioner Bob Bellah protested Lindsey's offer. The matter was closed by the two commissioners and the mayor signing personal checks for $50 each and delivering them to Little League President Bud Parker to pay for the electricity this summer.

Parental Pressure on Managers Reported to Little League President

Two instances of parental pressure against team managers have been reported to Randall County Little League President Bud Parker.

"Parents should remember that the managers are perfectly capable of handling the boys on their teams and are doing their best to win games as well as help the boys," Parker said.

In the instances reported to him, parents had contacted managers griping because their boys had been replaced during games, Parker said.

"Some boys have a little more ability than others, and managers are going to use their best boys when a game is tight," Parker said.

"If a boy who is not quite as good as another has the assurance that he will get to play regardless of how hard he works, he's not going to work hard and play better.

"The managers need to win when they can in order to keep their team's morale up. The boys all know which of their teammates are best, and those who are not quite so good are going to be trying to get better.

"When parents get into the relationship between the players and the manager, they're getting into a place where they have no business," Parker said. "Any parent who thinks his son is not getting a fair shake should come see me, and leave the managers alone.

"After all, the managers are all volunteers and we have picked the best men we could find. Any parent who thinks he is better is welcome to volunteer and get down to work," Parker said.

Neblett On West Team for Greenbelt

All-District and Regional quarterback Charles Neblett has been selected to play in the eighth annual Greenbelt All-Star game in Childress Aug. 16 on the West team.

The West team will be coached in the game by H. A. (Sandy) Sanford of Tarleton State College. Neblett is to report to Childress on Aug. 11 for conditioning and practice.

Shower Ends Nasty Weekend of Wind

After a weekend of the nastiest weather seen in quite some time, Canyon received .10 of an inch of moisture from a shower Monday afternoon.

Early Saturday morning winds began blowing dust and hot, sticky air across the plains at a 25 to 30 mile an hour clip. Gusts ran up as high as 40 to 45 miles an hour at times.

The winds blew constantly Saturday, Saturday night, Sunday and nearly all of Sunday night. The shower came from heavily-laden skies.

Portions of the south part of the county received heavy rains and hail Monday afternoon, mostly in spotted areas.

Folk Musical Opens Summer Season At Branding Iron Theater June 26

Lynn Riggs' play, "Green Grow the Lilacs," is scheduled to open the summer theatre season at West Texas State College's Branding Iron Theatre June 26. The performances will run through Friday, June 28, Dr. Lowell Matson, visiting director, has announced.

Riggs' work is one of the few folk plays in American dramatic literature, and it later provided the book for the most successful musical in history, "Oklahoma!"

"Green Grow the Lilacs" was first produced in 1931 by the Theatre Guild in New York. With its interludes of cowboy songs, romance of the prairies of Oklahoma before statehood, and freshness of spirit and expression, the play was moderately successful and received much critical praise.

In 1942, on the verge of insolvency, the Theatre Guild's directors began thinking of making a popularized musical version of "Green Grow the Lilacs." It had great possibilities as the book for a musical comedy, they believed, and they brought Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II together for the first time to work as a team on lyrics and music. It had to be a hit if the Theatre Guild was to stay in business.

It was, but not under its tryout title, "Away We Go." After its New Haven, Conn., opening, the authors suggested the musical be called "Oklahoma," to which the Guild agreed, provided an exclamation mark be added.

Today everyone has heard of "Oklahoma!" but "Green Grow the Lilacs" ironically would have faded from memory had not little theatre and college groups kept it alive.

As it will be produced by the Palo Duro Players at the Branding Iron Theatre, it will include the original folk songs ("A-Ridin' Ole Paint," "The Cowboy's Lament," "Streets of Laredo," "Sam Hall," "I Wish I Was Single Again," "Green Grow the Lilacs," "Chisholm Trail," "Next Big River," and others) of the Theatre Guild production, and the script has remained unchanged for 26 years.

Riggs' play, in the form to be produced at the Branding Iron Theatre in Canyon, is an important American play attempting to preserve the old days and their folkways.

Tickets for the production will go on sale June 19. Reservations can be obtained by mail or by phone through the WT speech department.

Chamber Chooses Committee For Study of Water Problem

A citizens committee of five men has been chosen by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce to study the city's water problem and recommend what should be done to solve it.

The committee was chosen by the board of directors of the chamber following a meeting Thursday. The committee has been asked to make its report to the citizens of Canyon.

Chosen for the committee are Dr. R. A. Neblett, Dr. J. A. Hill, Levi Cole, W. A. Warren and S. B. Orton. All five have accepted their appointment, according to Delbert Lowes, chamber president. They are expected to begin their study this week.

At the meeting of the directors Thursday, Lowes explained that citizens started calling him the night following the recently defeated $650,000 bond election called by the city. "They were asking what is going to be done about obtaining water for Canyon," Lowes said. "It looks like it'll be up to this organization to do something about it, if anything is done."

Director Don Standley suggested that a study of the entire water situation be made by a committee of "level-headed citizens."

Director Bill Sternenberg made a motion that a five-man committee be chosen to study and investigate all the possibilities of obtaining water and report to the citizens. The motion carried and was put into effect in the selection of the committee.

Lowes asked each of the directors to submit the names of five citizens they thought should serve on such a committee, and took the five men whose names were submitted the most times by the various directors.

The committee has been given access to all files at the city hall and to all information which was gathered by the city commission in its study of the water problem.

Lowes asked the committee to conduct its own organization and did not appoint a chairman.

The Dodgers established a sure-enough lead over the other three teams in the Randall County Little League in the three games played the past week. A fourth game, between the Yankees and Redlegs was called because of wet grounds Monday night.

Beginning the week's play on Thursday, all four teams were tied with one win and one loss each. After Tuesday night's game between the Dodgers and Braves, the Dodgers have a lead of three wins and one loss over the two-win, one-loss record of the second place Redlegs.

The Yankees own third place with one win and two losses and the Braves are in fourth with one win and three losses.

Games scheduled this week are Redlegs vs Dodgers on Thursday, Braves vs Yankees on Saturday, Braves vs Redlegs on Monday and Dodgers vs Yankees on Tuesday.

Redlegs 13, Braves 12

Scoring 13 runs off 18 hits, the Redlegs defeated the Braves Thursday night. The Braves scored 12 runs off 11 hits.

The first inning gave each of the teams two runs. Joel Richardson and Steve Burgess crossed the plate for the Redlegs and Ralph Irlbeck and Gaylord Stroup scored for the Braves.

The Redlegs pulled ahead by one run in the second with Elo Myers scoring following a one-base hit.

In the top half of the third, the Redlegs moved another run ahead of the Braves with Don Hawkins scoring after making a two-base hit.

But the bottom half of the third changed the complexion of the game. Stroup got on base with a walk, Mike Calliham by an error and Eddie Pool with a walk. Norman Smyrl got a walk, and Mickey Fitts got a one-base hit. Archie Freeman picked up a walk and Stroup finished the scoring by picking up a one-base hit to clear the bases. He was left on second when the third out was made.

At the end of the third, the score was Braves 8, Redlegs 4.

The Redlegs came back in the fourth inning to change the game again.

Davis Price, Gary Fletcher, Myers, Bobby Evans Burgess, Begert and Hawkins all got hits and ended up scoring to make the score 11 to 8 for the Redlegs.

In the bottom half of the fourth, Dorris scored for the Redlegs.

In the fifth, DeSchweinitz and Price scored for the Redlegs and Stroup, Calliham and Pool made the round trip for the Braves. At the end of the fifth, the score was Redlegs 13, Braves 12, the final score.

Dodgers 5, Yankees 4

Scoring everything in the bottom half of the third inning, the Dodgers downed the Yankees 5-4 in a tight game Saturday night. The Yankees' scores came half in the fifth and half in the sixth.

Winning pitcher Johnny Byrd faced only 25 Yankees and gave up five hits. Losing pitcher Ronnie Brock faced 18 Dodgers, giving up six hits. He was replaced in the bottom of the fourth by Harry Lisle, who faced 10 Dodgers and gave up three hits.

Byrd struck out nine Yankees while Brock struck out five Dodgers and Lisle struck out six.

The Dodger scores were made by Ricky Bacon, Marion Hicks, Bill Ashley, John Brandon and Larry Holman, all in the bottom of the third.

In the top of the fifth, Wallace Busteed and Bill Phillips scored for the Yankees, and in the sixth, Lisle and Preston Prichard crossed the plate.

Dodgers 10, Braves9

A wild and wooly first inning set the pace for the Dodger-Brave game Tuesday night with the Dodgers coming out on top 10 to 9 in the game.

The Braves collected two hits and scored Steve Langston, Mike Calliham and Eddie Pool in their half of the first inning. The Dodgers came back to pick up one hit, but a mighty six runs with George Byrd, Bill Ashley, Bill Albracht, John Byrd, Marion Hicks and Johnnie Sims scoring.

Both teams cooled until the third when the Braves picked up two scores on runs by Bobby Chumley and Mickey Fitts. The Dodgers evened up with runs by John Byrd and Hicks.

In the fifth, Calliham scored another run for the Braves, but Hicks took up the slack with another run for the Dodgers in the sixth, making the final score.

Oh, what a fine, brave world we'll live in in the 1980's. Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, has forecast a series of changes that should come to pass between now and then.

The first and most far-reaching change will be an enormous growth in population, from the present 170 million to 250 million. Science, technology, medicine, new business methods, new markets and new communities will give 100 million jobholders, twice as many college students as now, 130 million automobiles and a four-day work week.

Machines will be doing much of the work, but not the thinking. A new breed of workers is expected to develop and those who can truly be masters of the machines will be those who move ahead.

White-collar workers will far outnumber blue-collar workers and people who run things—managers and proprietors—will almost double in number. Pay will almost double today's levels, in today's dollars, but the dollar will be worth much less than today's.

Inflationary pressures will be high government spending, rising wage levels and the constant need for capital.

No city or country will be more than 24 hours away from any other. Travelers will ride in supersonic jet planes with cruising speeds up to 1,500 miles an hour. Commuters will go in airplanes that rise straight up, then go straight forward.

Cars will have fuel-injection motors and 25 per cent more horsepower than today's cars and may even be without transmissions. Trains may be atom-powered and built to go two miles a minute while some trains may rocket along on monorails.

A new kind of house is on the way. It will blend in with the outdoors and bring nature inside, and it may be round instead of square. Pushbutton windows will close automatically if it rains. A whish of air will clean and dry the dishes in three minutes. Electrostatic dust gatherers will keep the house shiny.

If it's a hot summer, you'll use a blanket that keeps you cool. Some clothing will be made of paper products and will be disposable after a couple of wearings. Refrigerators won't be so important anymore. Most foods will be irradiated, chemically treated or dehydrated and won't need to be kept cold.

For every student in public school or college today, there will be almost two students enrolled in the 1980's. The same ratio will apply to teachers and the college professor ratio may be as high as three to one.

Schools will be open 12 months a year and a great deal of teaching will be done by TV and films. It will cost at least 50 billion dollars a year for all the colleges and schools in the nation (that's 35 billion more than now.)

One third of all power will have the atom as its source. New plastics, paint textiles, metals, medicines, building materials and chemicals will come from experimentation with atomic processes. A new science of the sun will emerge. Energy gathered from sun rays will be used to power homes and factories, drive ships and provide fuel in out-of-the-way places.

If this all sounds completely fantastic, remember the wonders which have come in the past 25 years. Remember, if you can, how you lived prior to 1932 and contrast it with how you live now.

Think what has come from these things: Splitting of the atom, commercial TV, regular transatlantic air service, discount houses, major and minor league night baseball, Acrilan, Dacron, streptomyicin, aureomycin and other wonder drugs, electronic calculators, jet airplanes and 100-acre shopping centers, four, six, eight and 10-lane highways, plush, speedy automobiles with high horsepower, the five-day workweek in almost every business except retail—there have been a jillion changes in the past 25 years.

In all the talking about foreign aid, have you ever wondered just how much the United States has given away to other countries?

Some months ago, Rep. Ralph Gwinn, a Republican from New York, asked the Library of Congress Legislative Reference Service to prepare a comprehensive report on American foreign aid programs. The service finished the report on May 29, and the figures are astounding.

From July 1, 1940, through June 30, 1957, the total of American gifts to foreign nations will be $130,350,032,000. As you know, the national debt is $275 billion, and the foreign aid total represents 48½ per cent of the national debt.

During the war period—July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1945—the giveaway total was $49,224,297,000, and very few of us would begrudge a cent of it because the expenditure was necessary to help win the war.

Since that time, up until June 30, 1956, the giveaway total was $63,940,735,000. An additional $3.4 billion was put into the International Bank and is supposed to be reclaimable.

The Dan Smoot Report for June 10 discussed the total and broke it down to figures that the human mind can comprehend.

"The estimated population of the United States at present is 170 million. Let's say that this 170 million averages out to be about 43 million American families.

"One hundred and thirty billion, three hundred and fifty million, thirty-two thousand dollars represents more than $3,000 for every family in America."

Who got the foreign aid?

The report given Gwinn shows that the greatest total went to "Unspecified Areas in Europe." That amount was $11.3 billion dollars. The Library of Congress was unable to trace down just where that money went—just to "Unspecified Areas."

The list of "unspecified" places where foreign aid money went is amazing. There was that to Europe, plus aid to "Unspecified Areas" in Asia and the Pacific, the Near East and Africa, American Republics, Indochina, Portuguese Africa, British Africa, French Africa, and an item of $402 million to "Other Unspecified Areas."

All in all, $17 billion went to "unspecified" places around the world. Maybe no one knows where all of it went, and if it did any good at all.

Our foreign aid program since the war ended has been designed to "save the world from communism." Yet the Soviet Union ranks No. 20 on the list of countries which have been given aid. Since June 30, 1945, the Soviet Union has been given $465,434,000 by the United States.

In all, the United States has given $1.7 billion to communist nations since the end of the war. The list of communist nations who have shared in Uncle Sam's pie includes Albania, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

Any number of conclusions can be drawn from the figures in the report given Rep. Gwinn by the Library of Congress. One of the most obvious is that we don't know what we're doing when we try to save the world from communism by giving money to the communists.

Incidentally, Rhodesia and Nyasaland, two small countries in Africa, were given $1,000 to spend. Now that's a figure even I can comprehend. I wonder what they did with it. If I had a thousand dollars, I'd apply it on my debts as far as it would go.—BC

Traffic Toll Cut To Only One Death

The traffic fatality toll on Panhandle highways was cut to one during May, according to a report by Capt. J. W. Blackwell, commanding officer of the Amarillo District of the Highway Patrol.

The single death is a drop from five fatalities in May of last year and in April, 1957. Injuries during last month totaled 65 and there was an estimated $71,182 in property damage.

So far this year, 35 persons have been killed and 269 injured while for the same period last year there were 33 killed and 283 injured. Property damage is up this year, also, with a total of $365,435 for the first five months of 1957 against $320,593 last year.

Speeding is still the principal causative factor in the 127 accidents during May. That cause is followed by driving while drinking, following too closely, driving on the wrong side of the road not in passing and improper passing.

The 37 patrolmen of the district made 767 traffic arrests during May, 308 of which were for speeding and 47 for driving while intoxicated. They issued 1693 warnings for hazardous violations.

The patrolmen worked 5303 daytime hours and 2789 hours at night and traveled 93,247 miles during May.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

In the early summer of 1925, as staff writer for the Fort Worth Record, I accompanied a motorcade from Brady which was extending an invitation to the annual Sheep and Goat Raisers convention.

I was the sensation of the trip — well, not exactly me, but I caused it. Not knowing as much about weather as I do now, I took along a raincoat. It was strapped on the outside of my suitcase. There hadn't been so much as a shower in that territory for months so everyone grinned when they saw the raincoat.

There was one man on the trip who took special pleasure in kidding me about it.

The last night of the journey was spent in the picturesque town of Sonora. There were so many of us that the hotel fixed up cots on a big porch. Because we were virtually outdoors and because Sonora has an altitude of 2,000 feet or more, when the heat of the day died, the temperature cooled rapidly. The night became downright chilly, so I found use for that raincoat, after all. I threw it over my feet.

Next morning, when I awoke, the raincoat wasn't there. I looked over at the next cot. The occupant was sleeping soundly . Over his feet was my raincoat which he had reached over and taken while I was asleep. And the man who was "guilty" was the one who had been joshing me about the raincoat!

A man ran a hamburger stand in a Texas oil boom town. He was accommodating and good-natured and was popular with his customers. He decided he would like to get in the "oil game," so he obtained a lease and then raised money to drill from his customers, who understood that they were buying shares in the enterprise.

The well proved to be a gusher and then he said that the money had only been a loan—and he paid it back. There had been no papers drawn up and signed because they trusted him.

That was his start. The ex-hamburger owner became a multi-millionaire. He was a very successful man by the world's standards. But he knew how he had laid the foundation for his "success." I wonder if he found himself very good company when he was alone in the darkness of night?

The Statue of Liberty was erected in 1886.

Impressive Ceremony

MRS. IRVIN H. BORN

Chapel Is Scene for Wedding of Betty Lee Maddux, Irvin H. Born

Wedding vows were solemnized June 8 for Betty Lee Maddux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Maddux, and Irvin H. Born, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Born of Darrouzett, in an impressive candlelight ceremony at Joseph A. Hill Chapel. The Rev. J. E. Byars, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Shamrock, read the double ring service.

The altar was draped with white satin and garlands of greenery with a background of palms and branched candelabra. Baskets of white gladioli, daisies and greenery flanked the altar, and the bridal aisle was marked by clusters of gladioli, daisies, fern and white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Clark Wagner of Amarillo, organist, played Etude in E Major, Through the Years, Walk Hand in Hand, and Sometime as a prelude. Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, also of Amarillo, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Indian Love Call." The traditional wedding marches were played for the processional and recessional.

Lighting the candles were Mrs. Jack Gholston and Mrs. Carolyn Cummings of Amarillo. They wore waltz length, princess-style dresses of pastel yellow silk organdy with matching lace mitts and straw shell hats. They carried nosegays of blue marconi daisies centered with a lighting taper.

Attending her sister as maid-of-honor, Martha Ann Maddux wore a waltz length, princess-style dress of sky blue silk organdy accented by contrasting blue velvet bows in the back. Matching net mitts studded with rhinestones and tiny blue velvet bows and a straw half hat completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Benny Darnell of Amarillo, matron-of-honor, wore a costume identical to that of the maid-of-honor's. Each carried a cascade arrangement of pastel yellow majestic daisies.

As flower girl, Silua Kay Ayers of Memphis was dressed in a dainty frock of white embroidered silk organdy trimmed in satin with matching gloves and hat. She wore a wristlet of tiny yellow daisies and carried a satin basket of rose petals.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white dress of satin, tulle and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, tiny stand-up collar, long tapered sleeves terminating in points over her hands and a bouffant floor-length skirt with points of scalloped lace extending into the layers of tulle. The gown featured a chapel train.

Her three-tiered finger-tip veil of French illusion was attached to a cut-work Juliet cap encrusted with rhinestones and seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white starlight roses surrounded by yellow rose buds, stephanotis, lace frills and showered with satin streamers tied with stephanotis and love knots.

Floyd Born was his brother's best man. Groomsman was Gene Born, cousin of the bridegroom, and ushers were J. T. Maddux, brother of the bride, and Billy Ray Chase.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Maddux chose a navy blue silk dress with white lace accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Born wore a brown raw silk suit dress with brown and white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party and guests were honored by a reception in Randall Hall. The serving table was laid with a silver-blue taffeta cloth with drapes of matching net tied with tiny bows. The silver centerpiece held an arrangement of yellow daisies and pastel blue carnations.

Mrs. Addierene DuBose of Amarillo presided at the punch bowl. Emma Ayers of Clarendon was at the guest book. Other members of the house party were Mrs. Bob Ayers of Memphis and Mrs. Nolan Murr, Amarillo.

For a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Denver and other points of interest, the bride traveled in a pastel blue linen suit with gun-metal and white accessories and a corsage of white starlight roses.

The bride graduated from West Texas High School and West Texas State College. She is presently employed by Mason & Hanger of Silas Mason Co., Pantex.

Mr. Born is a graduate of Darrouzett High School and West Texas State College. He is employed by Russell, Graham and Brown in Amarillo.

After June 24, the couple will be at home at 1612 Tyler, Amarillo.

A rehearsal dinner was held June 7 at Batson's Dining Room in Amarillo, and immediate members of the bride's and bridegroom's family were entertained at luncheon the day of the wedding at Cowboy Cafe.

Hosts for the luncheon were Mr. and Mrs. Cristler Crain and Mrs. Merle Nelson of Claude. Out-of-town guests of the bride's family were Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Bowman of Meridian, Mrs. Clara Stone and Naomi Maddux of San Angelo.

Courtesy Honors Glenna Stroup

In the receiving line were Mrs. Bellah, Mrs. Audry Stroup, mother of the bride-elect, Miss Stroup and Mrs. Otto Langston, mother of the bridegroom-to-be. The honoree's corsage was of blue carnations and others in the receiving line wore blue and white carnation corsages.

Hostesses were Mrs. Bellah, Mrs. A. B. Holt, Mrs. Ed Reynolds, Mrs. Aubrey Crossland, Mrs. John Sims, Mrs. Walter Graham, Mrs. J. C. Bellah, Mrs. Bob Bellah and Mrs. Ross Craig.

Electric Living is FUN!

LINDA BAXTER
HOMEMAKING STUDENT AT LOCKNEY HIGH SCHOOL

"Our daughter sold us on ELECTRIC COOKING!"

Under guidance of teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, Linda Baxter practices cooking techniques on modern electric range.

says Mrs. CLYDE BAXTER
College and 5th Streets
LOCKNEY, TEXAS

Mrs. Clyde Baxter, like many adults, has had the advantages of electric cooking pointed out to her by her high school student daughter, who learned that the modern way is the accurate, dependable way. Of course, it's electric! Says Mrs. Baxter, "I'm mighty glad we installed an electric range when we built our new home. The counter-top height oven gives perfect baking results and we get more broiled foods since getting the new range".

Sixteen-year old Linda Baxter is a sophomore student with two semesters in homemaking. Her teacher, Mrs. Quentin Adams, says, "Although our department has both types of household cooking equipment, most of our girls prefer to use the electric range".

Why not "take a tip from your teenager"? If you are not yet cooking electrically, ask your daughter to tell you why you should.

STORM CELLAR DOORS

LET US SHOW YOU THE HEATILATOR SERVICE-WAY

Provides easy, direct exit from basement to outdoors. "Most useful door in the house!" say homeowners, for these reasons:

- Storage is easy. Garden tools, screens and storm windows, etc., can be kept in basement . . . easily removed.
- Saves work on washday. Fewer steps from laundry to backyard. Saves tracking dirt through upstairs rooms.
- Plenty of clearance for bulky objects. Ample room for installing large equipment like freezer, ping-pong table, etc. Dual action springs counterbalance heavy-gauge reinforced steel door for finger-tip operation. NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Civil Rights

The Congress is now debating the commonly, but in my opinion, incorrectly named "Civil Rights" bill. It is a stark tragedy that every individual, who has the great privilege of being an American citizen, cannot enjoy the opportunity of hearing the full-dress debate on this subject.

They would soon realize that the sinister purpose behind this bill is not to provide additional rights nor to guarantee any present rights against loss. On the contrary, the bill destroys rights now enjoyed by the individual under the Constitution.

In the first instance, it creates another commission or bureau, if you please, to further add to the confused bureaucratic maze of complexities in the Executive Branch of the government, with which the people are already sorely overburdened. It does not set up any qualifications whatever for the members, yet vests the Commission with wide quasi-judicial, if not full judicial powers.

It would also have the power to appoint all the personnel it could get appropriations to pay. It could use the services of voluntary and uncompensated personnel, but would be authorized to pay traveling and subsistence expenses for these voluntary snoopers. Subsistence alone could be claimed at $12 a day without any specific accounting. You can see the making of a virtual Gestapo in the United States of America by these provisions.

In the second place, the Act has been very cleverly worded so that the right of trial by jury in criminal contempt proceedings is destroyed, without letting the average reader of the Act realize what is being done.

In the third place, it denies the individual the right to say what proceeding he will follow in asserting his claimed rights, and leaves this decision, insofar as injunction proceedings are concerned, solely within the discretion of the Attorney General of the United States.

There is much that could be said about other rights which are damaged or lost under this Act, but time and space available here will not permit. I do say that this is a matter of the utmost importance to every citizen of the United States, and particularly in the South, because the adoption of this legislation could open the door for a return to the carpetbagger days immediately following the Civil War.

The Act itself is recognized by many of its supporters as being designed for the purpose of punishing the South. This was made most obvious in the testimony of the National Director of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), Mr. Edward D. Hollander, when he appeared before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

I asked Mr. Hollander if it was not a fact that his organization supported centralized control in the federal government. He denied this, and I asked him how he explained the ADA's position on the so-called Civil Rights matter and other similar legislation.

He did considerable talking about federal and local responsibility, but let the cat out of the bag when he said the following:

"And, if there were some way you knew whereby the Southern states could guarantee to all of the citizens the right to vote without discrimination, we would think that it would be wonderful —if the federal Civil Rights Law were unnecessary.

"Until the states of this country have demonstrated their ability to guarantee these constitutional rights to their citizens, then it seems to us the federal government, under the Constitution, must assume the obligation by default."

In other words, Mr. Hollander inadvertently admitted that the entire Civil Rights controversy grows out of a gross misunderstanding and violently false assumption on the part of a bunch of Northern "do-gooders" who are bent on punishing the Southern states.

Mr. Hollander's testimony reflects that the philosophy of the ADA (a group composed of 40 thousand members) supports the sovereign power of the states only so long as that power is exercised in complete conformity with the beliefs of the ADA. When any state transgresses the thoughts and beliefs of the ADA, the federal centralized control must come into play. Frankly, I can think of no similar philosophy in the history of mankind.

Incidentally, Mr. Hollander admitted that he had never been in business for himself and knew nothing of the difficulties of meeting a payroll or the rent in such capacity. Substantially all of his working years have been in government employment.

Girard Case

The decision of this government to turn an American soldier over to the Japanese for trial in a Japanese court has brought a deluge of protests to the National Capital.

As the matter now stands, the people of this country have not received sufficient information through news sources to justify in their minds the placing of this boy on the sacrificial altar of international appeasement. It can be said that all the information made available to the press has been published.

The question is whether or not the State Department is withholding information by which they would or could justify the delivery of this boy into the hands of the Japanese authorities. Unless there are ample and sufficient facts upon which to justify such action, the decision to turn the boy over to the Japanese should be immediately rescinded.

As for me, I can think of no reason why Girard should not be accorded his constitutional rights as an American citizen, rather than be the victim of the very questionable Status of Forces Treaty.

STRANGE!

Doctor — Did you say that there was something wrong with this hot-water bottle?

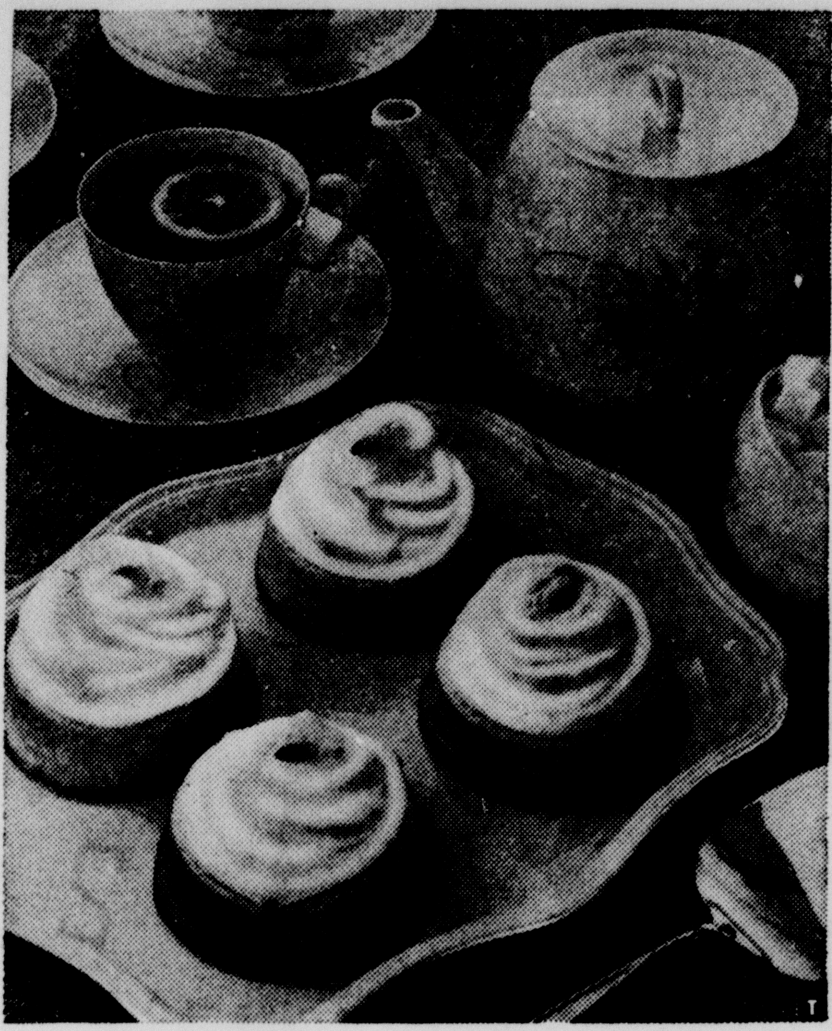
Striker — Yes, sir, I put some water in it yesterday and it isn't hot yet.

CAMERA CONSCIOUS

Colonel — So you lost half your forces by a trick of the enemy?

Captain — Yes. They rigged up a machine gun to look like a movie camera, and the boys just fought for a chance to get in front of it.

Tasty Lemon Pie



For a new variation of the ever-popular lemon pie, try individual pies made with instant lemon pie filling. With all the tart-sweet flavor of traditional lemon meringue pie, they are quick and easy with no-cooking-required, instant filling.

The miniature pies also eliminate messy cutting and crumbling in serving, making them ideal for large groups. Serve them as a tasty accompaniment with mid-afternoon tea or as a delicious late evening snack with full-bodied coffee.

To make the filling simply mix one package of instant lemon pie filling with one-half cup sugar. Add 2 cups of boiling water and beat with rotary beater about one minute or until thoroughly dissolved. Pour the mixture into 8 bakery shortcake shells. Chill in refrigerator until firmly set.

Top chilled filling with meringue made from 2 egg whites and one-fourth cup sugar stiffly beaten. Brown in oven 500 degrees about 3 minutes. Or use whipped cream as a topping instead of meringue.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother,. F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING COMPANY HUMBLE

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Though still four months off, Gov. Daniel's plan for a special legislative session in the fall is already generating lively discussion around the Capitol.

There is sentiment both for and against.

A "memorandum" was reportedly circulated asking persons to write the governor and ask him not to call the special session. It predicted the bills the governor wants would fare no better then than before. A long-time House member was believed to be the author of the memorandum.

But if the session is held, Rep. Tony Korioth of Sherman says he hopes the governor will submit small loan regulation as an emergency measure. Korioth's "loan shark" control bill died in committee last session.

New "States" Formed

While Texas lawmakers take a break, some probable leaders of the future are trying their hands at government in Austin.

They are nearly 1,000 high school students from over Texas who came to the Capital City for Boys State and Girls State. Texas Department of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsor the "states" annually as citizenship laboratories for outstanding youngsters.

Participants hear talks by top officials from the governor down, then form political parties, nominate candidates and elect officials of their own.

Aim is to give the students a first-hand understanding of politics and government.

Road Building Speed-Up

Texas State Highway Commission is moving swiftly to take advantage of new laws designed to speed up highway construction.

A meeting of the Commission and key personnel was to be held in Houston this week. Objective: to hasten the day when heavy traffic can move safely and smoothly along multi-laned super-highways with no crossroads.

Principal legislative changes are (1) provision for the state to go 50-50 with cities and counties on land buying costs and (2) new authority for the state to obtain land for and have control of super roads through cities.

Goal for 1970, according to Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, is 900 miles of expressways linking Texas' population centers.

First of the new laws means car and truck owners will pay 10 per cent more for their next license plates . . . Second means state will set speed limits on state hignways through towns — no local speed traps.

But one "speed-up" law failed. Legislature decided against raising present 60-mile-per-hour limit, no matter how good the road.

Tougher for Teens

Law enforcement officers will, in effect, have a new hickory stick for teenage troublemakers after Aug. 22.

New laws to go into effect then provide:

1. Youngsters 14 and over can be fined $100 for speeding, DWI or driving without a license.

2. Parents will be liable up to $300 for property damage by minor children.

3. Drivers licenses for youngsters under 16 will be harder to get. Department of Public Safety, rather than local county judge, will have say-so.

4. A special "license" will be needed for driving motor bikes and scooters.

Taking a more optimistic view of the same subject were the more than 100 experts, educators and parents in Austin for the Texas PTA's youth development workshop.

Today's youth seems to be "sailing along," they opined, but suggested more interest by fathers might help.

At Least It's Wet

More and more rain and less and less crops is the farm report from many parts of the state.

Besides flood damage, losses are expected to mount high from wind, hail, rust and insects. And continued heavy rains have washed out more fields, delayed much-needed work in others.

Any more rain will mean complete loss of North Texas grain crops, according to observers. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reported weather too wet and cool for cotton in all areas but South Texas.

Even so, the stored-up moisture makes farmers generally hopeful. With some clear weather now, some say they might yet get the best crops in years.

For ranchers outlook is even better. Hill Country Hereford Association reported record-breaking sales as grass grows higher, cattle fatter.

Building Bogs Down

Continuous rain has brought construction to a "virtual standstill" in many parts of Texas this year.

Building authorizations for the first four months of '57 were one per cent higher than last year, reports the Bureau of Business Research. But actual construction was 4 per cent less due to the weather.

Increase in the authorization totals was attributed to higher costs rather than more building.

Business Activity Up

Almost all indicators show Texas business moving slowly, but steadily, ahead of what it was in 1956.

University Bureau of Business Research reported April, 1957, was 6 per cent better than April, 1956. Retail trade was up 8 per cent over last year with family clothing stores showing the biggest jump — 39 per cent.

Bureau analysts foresee "good" retailing for the rest of the year, but with "fierce competition" and a "ruthless squeeze on profits and margins."

Short Snorts

Virgil T. Seaberry of Eastland has been elected president of the State Bar of Texas, according to Austin headquarters. He will take office at the bar's annual convention in Fort Worth in July.

First high state official to announce for the 1958 elections is Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson. He has been on the Commission since 1941.

Cotton planting deadlines have been extended until June 20 for farmers in 69 East and Central Texas counties. Agriculture Commissioner John White said the extension was "against my better judgment" as far as pink bollworm control is concerned, but that farmers should not be deprived of a good cash crop.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

A bridal shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. Ray Metcalf honored Mrs. Eddie D. Anthony, nee Gwen Carter. She became the bride of Airman First Class Eddie D. Anthony June 7 in an informal service at Clovis, N. M.

Mrs. Anthony is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carter and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Z. Anthony of Hanover, Penn. They are living in Clovis.

June Gilbreath of Portales presided at the guest book, and Mrs. Billy Raye Capella, sister of the honoree, poured punch. The table, laid with a white linen, cut-work cloth, was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of green and white.

The centerpiece of pink roses was flanked by white candles in crystal holders tied with net and green ribbon. Crystal appointments were used to serve refreshments of green and white individual cakes, mints, nuts and lime fruit punch.

Eight other bouquets of roses from the garden of Mrs. Ray Pennington decorated the entertainment rooms.

Hostesses for the courtesy were Mrs. Murray Boston, Mrs. Bill Davis, Mrs. M. A. Keller, Mrs. Luther Lawless, Mrs. Lee Roy Moreland, Mrs. Thelma Pruett and Mrs. E. H. Wright.

Approximately 60 guests brought or sent gifts.

Panhandle Game Harvest Holds Up

The Texas Panhandle provided a satisfactory game harvest in 1956, according to a summary report made by employees of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The report shows 28 counties, according to W. S. Jennings, assistant director.

The report shows a kill of 256 deer, 397 turkey, and 229 antelope, checked in by the hunters. The antelope hunts were staged on 29 ranches which had contracts with the game department to permit hunting.

There were 305 antelope hunt permits issued, with a kill of 229, or 83.27 per cent. The average antelope checked out at 75.3 pounds. The average weight of the mule deer killed was 124 pounds, against 120 pounds on the white tail deer.

Hunters from the area also contributed 4,708 bob white and 899 scaled quail wings for study. The quail kill was said to be as good as the previous year.

In a check of dove hunters, 564 reported a killing of 2,616 doves, or an average of 4.6 doves per man. These results equalled the previous year's hunt.

Originally the dollar was subdivided into halves, dimes, and cents; there were no quarters.

Membership chairman is Levi Cole and members are Keith Hines and T. A. Black. The telephone committee chairman is Mrs. Bill Downing. Members of her committee are Mrs. Mark Foster and Mrs. Charles Hillier.

The two committees to arrange meeting sites are composed of Mrs. Frank Morgan and Darthula Walker, who will arrange for meetings from June to January, and Levi Cole and Charles Hillier, who will arrange for meetings from January to June.

The flower exchange chairman is Mrs. Levi Cole. Members of this committee are Bing Crosby and Sarah Thompson. The exhibit chairman is Mrs. W. A. Warren.

Practical suggestions for Father's Day gifts:

From 15-year-old Jack — A year of safe driving, with no major repair bills, either on the family sedan or his own jalopy.

From pretty 17-year-old Susie — A self-imposed, respectable curfew that will let a fellow get some sleep and cut out the midnight imaginings about her being kidnaped, murdered, or killed in a car wreck.

From his ever-loving spouse, Mary — A well-ordered household, in which there is some peace and quiet, but also some gaiety and laughter; assurance that she is happy, that he is still the light of her life.

From his grandchildren — Dog-like devotion to him as lord and master, as the guy who can fix broken toys and answer all questions.

From his business associates — An occasional look of admiration mixed with envy, that seems to say, "Dadgum it, fella, you've really got it!"

From his office workers — Flattery that looks like friendly respect; thinking of him without taking away from his self-esteem.

From every good-looking woman he knows — A sly, perhaps imaginary sense of flirtation, just enough to give him the feeling that he's quite a Lothario, without actually provoking disloyalty to his ever-loving spouse.

Father's Day is really a johnny-come-lately among national days of special celebration. But it has a place, there's no doubt about it. What used to be strictly a man's world belongs now to whoever claims it. For the selfish man, it's still his own. For the vast horde of American fathers, it's the family's. They are the ones who prompt us to suggest these practical gifts for Father's Day.

Lime pudding and punch were served to the 4-H girls and Mrs. R. A. Hodges, Mrs. E. L. Cranmer, Mrs. Tom Moore, Mrs. J. Cristler Crain and Mrs. John Jennings.

Mrs. Toni Dewey Heads Heart Assn.

Randall County Heart Association officers were elected for the 1957-58 term at a meeting of the association June 12.

President and chairman of the board is Mrs. Toni Dewey. Elected vice president is Raymond Batenhorst; elected treasurer, Levi Cole; and secretary, Mrs. J. T. Harp.

Members of the board are Elmer Mason, Mrs. John Plank, Mrs. Earl Davis, Roy N. Byrd Sr., R. B. Gist Jr., Mrs. Jim Wesley, Mrs. Melton McGehee, Mrs. Frank Ham, Jim Fletcher, Riley Troth (Heart Sunday chairman, also), Clark Jarnagin and Jerry LaGrone.

The financial report revealed that the association now has $688.

In a general discussion on ways to best use this money locally, Arville Tolbert, assistant state director from Henderson, presented material and made suggestions on possible ways the money could be used.

The group decided to purchase two heart models, one for the Umbarger school system and one for Canyon High School.

It was announced that anyone desiring to give memorials to the Randall County Heart Association may address them to Levi Cole, First National Bank.

Present at this meeting were Dr. Ruth Lowes, who presided in the absence of the president, Batenhorst, Cole, Troth, Harp and Tolbert.

Calvary School Closes Friday

The Vacation Bible School of the Calvary Baptist Church closed with the commencement exercises last Friday evening.

The school established a new record in the number enrolled but showed a slightly lower average attendance than last year, according to the Rev. Aaron Mann, pastor and principal. Total number enrolled this year was 112 as compared with 102 last year.

Illness, vacations and other things beyond control reduced the average attendance to 84 this year as compared to 89 last year.

During the 10 days the school was in session the pupils gave $26.13 to missions through the cooperative program of the Southern Baptist Convention.

At the commencement exercises the pupils gave a demonstration of what they had learned in the school. Each department had a part on the program and each pupil enrolled was given a certificate for participation. The program was attended by parents and friends.

The Rev. Mann announced that at 9:30 a. m. June 21 the faculty will meet at the church to evaluate the results of the school, study the advantages and disadvantages of the procedures used this year and begin planning for next year's Vacation Bible School.

DOUBLE STAMP DAY TUESDAY

Cherry Blossoms

BY DOVIE CHERRY

The West Texas State Pi Omegas who bought a little over 10 years ago a rather large number of gardenia corsages at the price of two gardenias for 75 cents were really delighted with the bargain they got and a certain young man who supplied the corsages learned a lesson he has never forgotten.

H. R. Fulton, now the owner at H. R.'s Greenhouse, was the young man who learned the lesson—"a wealth of experience," he calls it.

H. R. had not opened a florist shop in Canyon then, but had a state store license and on occasions sold corsages to the college group—he was still in college—from the back of his cousin's shop, then McDonald's Dress Shop on the east side of the square.

It didn't take him long to learn that a one-gardenia corsage sold for $1.

When he discovered this fact, he said, "Of course, I almost had a heart attack . . . but it didn't turn out so bad."

H. R. has learned his business the hard way and he doesn't recommend anyone to try it the way he did. Although he had always been fascinated by flowers and plants and had fooled around at home arranging them, he had no actual training or apprenticeship to help him.

"When I look back now, I don't know how I did it," he said and feels that he has been very fortunate during the 10 years he has been in business.

There's a lot to learn. A florist not only has to be able to design a corsage, bouquet or flower arrangement, but know how to service weddings, prepare flowers for funerals, price his merchandise and manage his business.

The principles of florist business can be learned in florist schools, but according to H. R., what a person really needs is natural ability. That is, an inherent quality that enables the florist to know what is beautiful. You might call it a sense of beauty. Without this natural ability, he doesn't believe the florist will go very far.

Another must is love for the work. A florist's work is a lot more than getting to smell the pretty roses.

Take one corsage. Just what is involved? Let's say it's a carnation corsage. Well, you order the carnations, probably from Colorado Springs if you live in this part of the country.

When the carnations arrive, they are placed in water for three to four hours to let them absorb all the water into the stems that it is possible for them. Next, the flowers are stored in the cooling unit overnight for a "hardening" period.

Then, the actual construction of the corsage begins. Florist wire is cut and wrapped with tape, a bow is made. The carnation will probably be torn into bunches and wired back together for a perfect effect.

After assembled, the corsage will be sprayed with a mist to keep it fresh and give it a dewey appearance. Now, it goes into the box, is labeled and delivered. All that for just one carnation corsage.

"It is impossible for people to realize what goes on here during busy times unless they are familiar with florist work," said H. R. He was referring to times like holidays when a florist had better not count on getting too much rest or sleep.

Over the Mother's Day holiday, which was also presentation time at the college, there were 75 corsages for the presentation dance. This meant 18 hours and 45 minutes of just putting the corsages together and doesn't include the time spent preparing the flowers and materials for construction of the corsages. H. R. estimates that orders take as much time as the construction of the corsage.

In addition there were 58 hand bouquets made, which take longer, and then all the orders for mothers. You count the time.

But, H. R. likes the work and especially enjoys weddings. For a wedding there is an average of one to five hours time discussing the wedding with the family, time spent making sketches of the church and decorating to be used, and time showing the plans and discussing the budget with the family.

He said he had spent as much as one year planning a wedding.

What are the opportunities for young men and women in the florist line? For shop owners and operators, not too much. A survey has revealed that it takes 5,000 residents to support one florist shop.

But, for qualified designers, the ones who design and construct the arrangements and corsages, there is a good demand, according to H. R. Most qualified designers are hard to get and most of them want to have their own shop.

To a person considering the florist business, H. R. advises going to a florist school, although it is expensive, or at least working in a florist shop before going out on the limb that only self-employers know.

But if a fellow is willing to sell a few orchids for 50 cents each, and let experience be the teacher, all he has to do is get a license, nursery inspection certificate and he's in business, maybe.

Where do the plants and flowers sold here come from? The pot plants sold Easter and Mother's Day by H. R. came from Littlefield. Others he gets come from San Francisco. Cut flowers come from San Francisco and Los Angeles. Most carnations come from Colorado Springs, but during Mother's Day, the red and white carnations are rationed and florists must meet the demand elsewhere.

H. R. finds that in the 10 years he has been in business that there have always been more August brides than June brides.

And does the winter bride have more limited selection of flowers than the summer bride? Not now. Up-to-date nurseries make most any type of flower available all year round.

For instance, crysanthemums are now prettier in florist shops out of season than in season.

TRAVEL TIPS

June's here. Summer is in the air. Now's the time for fishing trips, honeymoons, week-end jaunts, and full-fledged vacations.

Summer also is the time when Long Distance service can come in extra handy.

Just a call or two to relatives or friends, to the hotel or fishing lodge, and all the details of your vacation are quickly worked out.

Traveling by car, you make the most of each day's driving conditions by calling ahead for reservations. And you can change your time table as you go along.

Long Distance helps in arranging those spur-of-the-moment week-end jaunts, too. A couple of calls, a few hours notice, and you're on your way.

And when you do take off, cross-country or just for the week-end, let the "worriers" at home know you're okay — by Long Distance. Wherever you go, you're never far from a phone.

WATCH OUT FOR KIDS

In the telephone business we pay a lot of attention to safety and safety training.

Every year at this time there's a special reminder for telephone drivers: "School's out. Watch out for kids."

I repeat the reminder here because it's so important, and because it seems to apply equally to everyone who drives.

Telephone drivers are anxious to join with all of you in doing everything possible to make this an extra safe summer.

Maybe the best way to do that is to use a heavy foot on the brake and a light one on the gas pedal, especially near playgrounds and in residential areas. You have our pledge to drive safely — this summer, and all year long.

LET DAD RELAX

For one reason or another, I always end up with the "telephone answering job" when I'm home evenings.

Happens all the time. Wife's tired. Kids are busy, or in bed. It's up to me to answer all calls.

If the man of your house is in the same fix, why not make it easy for him? See to it there's a telephone near his favorite evening relaxing spot. Then he can just reach — instead of run — when the phone rings.

We'd be glad to work with you on arranging a gift telephone for him. Just call us at the telephone business office. The number is OL5-2151. We'll take it from there.

The price for an additional telephone is only 75 cents a month, plus installation.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

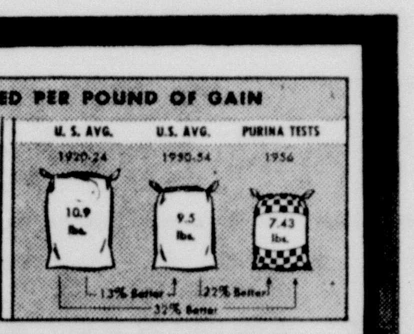
In U.S. average beef production, it required 10.9 pounds of feed for each pound of gain back in 1920-24, as shown in the left-hand chart. By 1950-54, the amount of feed required per pound of gain had dropped to 9.5 pounds, a 13% improvement. But . . . the U.S. "could be" feed requirement is about 8.5 pounds, or 22% better than the U.S.D.A. figures for 1920-24. Chart at right shows Purina's results today are 22% better than U.S. average for 1950-54, and 32% better than 1920-24 averages.



Here's your answer to the cost-price squeeze . . .

Widen the profit gap with Purina Steer Fatena

In 1956, Purina Steer Fatena was fed to supplement local grain in six public cattle-feeding tests in the West. The number of pounds of feed needed to produce each pound of gain varied between 5.5 pounds and 8.23 pounds . . . for an average of 7.43 pounds.

Compare that with the U.S. average of 9.5 lbs.! Over 2 pounds of feed less per pound of gain for Purina-fed cattle. That sure cuts a way wider gap between your costs and the price you get at market, doesn't it? And that's what's needed to get through today's cost-price squeeze with a profit . . . lower cost of gain! It can be done.

It is being done by cost-conscious Purina cattle feeders.

We . . . at the Store with the Checkerboard Sign . . . will be happy to give you full information about Purina Steer Fatena Feeding Programs.

CATTLE HEALTH HINT—Chances are your cattle have worms . . . worms that cost you money every day you feed. Purina Cattle and Sheep Wormer Concentrate is a new, easy-to-use, one-day treatment. WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

from Sen. Lyndon Johnson

Throughout my life, I have held firmly to a fixed belief. It was summed up by Thomas Jefferson when he said:

> "I know of no safe depository of the ultimate power of society but the people themselves; and if we think them not enlightened enough to exercise their control with a wholesome discretion, the remedy is not to take it from them, but to inform their discretion by education."

Because of this belief, I did not deplore the fact that the Russian communist leader Nikita Krushchev was able to come into our homes by television and state his case. I believe Americans have too much sense to be deceived by open communist propaganda.

I did regret, however, that we did not answer his broadcast with a demand that the Russian leaders grant spokesmen of our own choosing the right to appear—uncensored—on Soviet television and radio. I am willing to back the American case against the communist case any time—because I am confident the American case will win.

Since the end of World War II, this nation has taken the lead consistently in trying to rescue mankind from atomic conflict. We have offered to reduce armaments; to share our atomic secrets; to allow "open skies" inspection to enforce disarmament agreements. We have asked in return only reasonable safeguards to insure that the Soviets will not violate the agreements and use them to further the communist cause.

These agreements have come to nothing because the communist leaders have been able to conceal the facts from the Russian people. Future agreements will meet the same fate unless we find a way of penetrating the "iron curtain" so the Russian people will hear our side of the story.

I believe we should demand the right to make weekly telecasts and radiocasts to the Russian people. They should have the chance to hear our businessmen; our labor leaders; our professionals; our leaders of agriculture.

In return, we should be willing to grant them the same privileges in our country.

This offer should be pressed upon Nikita Krushchev every time he is within earshot of an American representative. And if he refuses, he will have to explain to the whole world why we are willing to let him state the communist case to our people but why he is not willing to let us state the case of freedom to the Russian people.

Let the people know. Once they have the facts, they can make the honorable, just and fair decisions that will rid us of the fears of world wide atomic war and the arms race.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

No doubt you have heard it said many times that "it is too late to close the barn door after the horse is gone."

You have been fortunate in getting slow soaking rains over most of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District this spring.

If you had gotten one of those "chunk movers," would you have had the "barn door" closed?

The only time to get your farm ready for a big rain is to make preparations while it is dry.

The supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District urge you to begin getting ready now for those heavy rains that are bound to come.

"Why let precious rainfall run off when it can be held on your farm to grow more crops and pasture?" asked J. W. Spencer who is chairman of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District Supervisors.

As Soil Conservation Service technicians were assisting Spencer stake a spreader terrace in his pasture, he stated, "Boys, I may be pigish about this water, but I don't want a drop of it to leave my farm."

Not only will the extra water make the farm more productive, but controlling the water will also help to prevent serious erosion.

Field terraces, diversion terraces, contour lines, pasture furrows, spreader terraces and livestock ponds are a few of the "barn doors" that you should consider closing before the next hard rain comes.

Cover cropping, crop residue utilization, conservation crop rotation and properly grazing range and pasture will also help to conserve some of that rainfall that might otherwise be lost.

If you have some "barn doors" that you are worried about, now is the time to contact the technicians of the Soil Conservation Service to begin working on a coordinated conservation plan for your farm or ranch.
